

The Leibniz FH invites paper submission and contributions to its Workshop on corporate rules & decision-making.

#Decisions 2022: Startups and Investment Decisions

October 6, 2022

Scientific Forum: 10 a.m. – 5 p.m.

Business Evening: 5 p.m. – 8 p.m.

Entrepreneurs have to make risky decisions and often require external funding for their projects. All this becomes even more pronounced for startups and their business models. This Leibniz Workshop seeks to bring together experienced researchers of that field to present and discuss their latest work throughout the day. Entrepreneurs and business people are invited to join the Business Evening for joint talks and a more “hands-on” perspective on the topic.

As a special guest, we welcome Christian Beuther (co-pace GmbH) who is the head operations at the startup co-operation program of Continental AG and will provide hands-on expertise in his keynote on industrial startup cooperation, proof-of-concept and partnership management.

We welcome contributions that are related to startups, entrepreneurship, funding and investment decisions. Submission of extended abstracts or presentations is acceptable, but priority will be given to completed manuscripts. We encourage submissions by young researchers at the PhD-level.

Paper submissions to forschung@leibniz-fh.de

Submission deadline: July 15

Acceptance letter: August 15

The conference will be held as an offline event unless the public health situation requires us to hold it online. The workshop language is English. After the workshop, all presenters of accepted contributions are cordially invited for a joint dinner at the Best Western Parkhotel Kronsberg at 8:30 p.m.

Attendance fee (Scientific Forum only)

- Presenters of accepted contributions, speakers and PhD students free of charge
- 50 Euro for non-presenting scientists
- 100 Euro for other

For any questions, please contact the local organizer (Robin Christmann, christmann@leibniz-fh.de).

We are looking forward to seeing you at the Expo Plaza!

#JoinOurNetwork